

JOHN W. MANN

jmann@kmclaw.com | 801.239.3170

SHAREHOLDER

John practices business and commercial law focused primarily on the needs of the construction industry. He represents general contractors, subcontractors, developers, property owners, sureties, design professionals, and engineers through all phases of construction and development. He represents businesses involved in all aspects of construction including residential, commercial, heavy highway, and government projects. John takes a client-first approach to resolving disputes to avoid the cost and disruption of protracted litigation.

John also has substantial experience litigating issues related to professional licensing, real estate, real property title, contracts, partnerships, and commercial disputes. He regularly represents clients in litigation, mediation, and arbitration. John has tried cases in state and federal courts.

EXPERIENCE

Officer, Construction Law Section, Utah State Bar, 2010-2014 (Chair, 2013)

Prior to joining Kirton McConkie, John was a shareholder with the law firm of Fetzer Simonsen Booth & Jenkins, P.C.

Intern, Oregon Supreme Court, 2006

EDUCATION

University of Oregon School of Law, JD 2007

Associate Editor, Oregon Review of International Law, 2006-2007

The Orlando John and Marian H. Hollis Scholarship

Dean's Scholarship

University of Utah, BA German, BS, Economics, 2002

PUBLICATIONS & PRESENTATIONS

Jeppesen v. Bank of Utah, 2018 UT App 234

Christensen v. American Heritage Title Agency, Inc., 2016 UT App 36

Hughes General Contractors, Inc. v. Utah Labor Commission, 2014 UT 3

Jackson v. Halls, 2014 UT App 152

PRACTICE AREAS

CONSTRUCTION

SURETY BONDS

LITIGATION

REAL ESTATE

HONORS & AWARDS

Mountain States Super Lawyers: 2015, 2019

Utah Legal Elite: 2016, 2017

ADMISSIONS & AFFILIATIONS

Bar Admissions: Utah